Probation Population in New York State 2023

The state Division of Criminal Justice Services regulates and funds local probation departments that operate in each of the 57 counties and City of New York.

Probation is a court-ordered sentence that allows individuals who have been convicted of crimes to remain in the community while being supervised and connected to services and support to help them lead crime-free lives. This sanction is an alternative to incarceration, although some individuals serve what is known as a split sentence: time in jail followed by probation supervision upon release from incarceration.

This report provides an overview of the state's adult probation population, which includes individuals whose probation supervision was transferred to New York from another state under the Interstate Compact (as of Dec. 31, 2023). Data for this report are derived from the Integrated Probation Registrant System, which is maintained by DCJS. The COVID-19 pandemic disrupted criminal justice system operations in 2020. As a result, fewer cases were disposed in the courts, and fewer individuals were sentenced to probation.

Demographic information (sex, age when sentenced and race/ethnicity) of individuals on probation; conviction offense type; and discharge type are presented for New York State and its two regions: New York City and Non-New York City.

- New York City: Bronx, Kings, Manhattan, Queens and Richmond
- Non-New York City: Albany, Allegany, Broome, Cattaraugus, Cayuga, Chautauqua, Chemung, Chenango, Clinton, Columbia, Cortland, Delaware, Dutchess, Erie, Essex, Franklin, Fulton, Genesee, Greene, Hamilton, Herkimer, Jefferson, Lewis, Livingston, Madison, Monroe, Montgomery, Nassau, Niagara, Oneida, Onondaga, Ontario, Orange, Orleans, Oswego, Otsego, Rensselaer, Rockland, Putnam, Saratoga, Schoharie, Schenectady, Schuyler, Seneca, St. Lawrence, Steuben, Suffolk, Sullivan, Tioga, Tompkins, Ulster, Warren, Washington, Wayne, Westchester, Wyoming and Yates

This report provides information on:

- Adults sentenced in 2023
- Adults under supervision as of December 31, 2023
- Adults discharged in 2023

The report also includes county-specific data in eight appendices:

- Appendix A: Adults Sentenced to Probation, 2019 2023

Between 2019 and 2023, the number of adults discharged from probation in New York City decreased by 50 percent and outside New York City it declined by 41 percent.

Adults Discharged from Supervision: 2019 - 2023

Discharge Type

In 2023, courts discharged 19,134 adults from probation supervision, the vast majority outside New York City (80% or 15,395).

Probation sentences for most felony convictions are either three, four or five years. State law requires a longer probation term of 10 years for felony sex crimes.

Probation sentences for misdemeanor convictions are either one, two or three years, depending on the type of misdemeanor (Class A, B or unclassified). State law requires a six-year sentence for misdemeanor sexual assault.

In New York State, 38 percent of adults under probation supervision were discharged after serving the full sentence imposed by the court; 15 percent of adults were discharged from supervision early; and 22 percent of adults had their probation revoked:

- 17 percent for technical violations, such as violating one or more court-ordered conditions of their probation supervision (e.g., failing drug tests, missing home and office visits); and
- Five percent for new convictions.

Seventeen percent were "referred for further court action." These usually are interim cases, which are "referred for further court action" to either be formally sentenced to probation or to have their supervision terminated.

There were regional differences in the type of discharges granted by the court:

- In New York City, 54 percent of adults on probation remained under supervision until reaching their maximum expiration date, compared to 34 percent of adults outside New York City.
- In New York City, a higher percentage of adults were granted early discharge by the court than outside New York City (18% vs. 15%).
- There were more technical revocations outside New York City compared to in New York City (19% vs. 8%).

Total	3,738	100%	15,395	100%	19,134	100%

Maximum Expiration: The probation case reaches the supervision end date ordered by the court.

Early Discharge: The court of jurisdiction discharges an individual from probation supervision before the maximum expiration date.

Revoked-Technical Violation: The court terminates the sentence because an individual fails to comply with the conditions of probation.

Revoked-New Conviction: The court terminates the sentence because an individual is convicted of a new offense.

Early Discharge Due to New Conviction: The court discharges an individual from probation after a subsequent conviction to a new offense.

Referred for Further Court Action: This typically occurs when interim cases are closed – for either a positive or negative outcome – and the court must determine next steps.

Other: The court imposes certain sentences to state prison pursuant to Penal Law Section 65.15 or authorizes the transfer of custody and supervision to federal authorities pursuant to Criminal Procedure Law Section 410.80(4).
